Remarks/Market Observations:		The following observations were gathered during the actual price monitoring activities this week (March 2-6, 2020): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> *The wholesale price of Bangus and Tilapia remain stable despite the low volume available at the Navotas Fish Port. This might be attributed to the large volume of fresh marine fishes unloaded at the fish port, which caused a lower demand for aquacultured commodities. *Most of the available Bangus are big to jumbo-sized (1-2 pcs/kg). *Eighty (80%) of the unloaded marine fishes are being sold mixed with other species (Auxis spp., Decapterus spp., Sardinella spp., Rastrilleger spp., Seala spp. etc). *Abundant volume of Squid (Kalawang) observed in the market. *A large volume of frozen/imported commodities continue to be available at the Navotas Fish Port despite the availability of local Galunggong. Majority of the frozen commodities are Squid, Salmon Head, and Galunggong. *The price of imported commodities decreased due to the lower demand from the buying public, alongside the buyers' preference of fresh marine fishes over imported. *Tilapia supply at the Navotas Fish Port decreased this week due to the lesser supply coming from Batangas. The farmgate price and wholesale price of the said commodity remain high.
