Remarks/Market Observations:	The following observations were gathered from market personnel and vendors this week: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> For fresh marine commodities, minimal display were noted among the monitored retail markets this week. This may be due to the effect of Northeast monsoon that continues to cause cold weather condition in the east part of the country. Supply of local-fresh galunggong and alumahan remain limited at the monitored retail markets this week due to the ongoing implementation of Closed Fishing Season (CFS) for local galunggong (Decapterus spp.) at Northern Palawan last 1 November and for sardines, herrings, & mackerels at Visayan Sea last 15 November 2022. This resulted to a relatively high prevailing retail price of local galunggong at Php280.00/kg and for medium-sized alumahan at Php300.00/kg. Other local galunggong variants such as "balsa" (Decapterus macarellus), "babae" (Decapterus russelli) and "burot" (Decapterus kurroides) were noted in some of the monitored retail markets this week. Abundant supply of imported-frozen galunggong were observed among the monitored retail markets this week as vendors look for alternative/substitute commodity for galunggong. This resulted to a stable prevailing retail price of imported-frozen galunggong at Php200.00/kg this week. Also, some of them prefer selling imported-frozen galunggong due to its cheaper price making it easier to sell. Other imported commodities like pampano, salmon, mackarel, chabeta, tulingan, and matambaka observed this week. The prevailing retail price of bangus remained at a relatively high price of Php180.00/kg as supplies recorded were medium-large sized (2-3pcs/kg) and mostly sourced from Pangasinan. The supply remained stable and sufficient at the market. For tilapia, the prevailing retail price increased at Php150.00/kg this week. According to fish producers, this may be attributed to the increase in price of feeds. Nonetheless, the supply of tilapia remained stable and sufficient at the monitored retail markets. There is still a Php20-30.00/kg price difference between live and fresh-chilled tilapia.
